Rosanne Gulisano of St. Charles, Illinois, has released her new book, From Intention to Reality, A Guide For Writing Your Own Life Story. Drawing from her experience as facilitator of the Lifestories: Creating a Memoir workshops, she has consolidated her motivational and organizational tips in a “how to” guide that is designed to kick start the reader toward the goal of chronicling his or her stories for future generations of family members.

She has conducted workshops for club meetings, church groups, senior centers and residential communities and presented multi-session seminars at community colleges. Her venues have included Geneva Public Library, St. Charles Heritage Center, Kane County and Elgin Geneological Society meetings, St. Charles Chamber of Commerce Women’s Business Council, Schaumburg Public Library, Waubensee Community College and many more. Comments from attendees at Sisters Weekend in St. Charles included, “Very touching. Made you appreciate past experiences.” “Excellent! What a great way to share memories.” “You gave me the incentive I needed to put the events of my life in writing.” Rosanne is also a freelance writer. She is the Poetry and Literature Editor for the online magazine No Strings Attached E-News.com, where she is a regular contributor.
